

Figure S2: Model code structure and information flow. A diagrammatic representation of the steps that occur during a simulation, and which produce the measured forces and energies.