S6 Fig. MUT-16 foci are temperature dependent.
Representative images from the early pachytene region after L4 animals were subjected to 30°C heat shock for 6 hours and allowed to recover on plates at room temperature (~21°C) for the indicated amount of time. All images are from different animals to demonstrate the variability in foci presence and intensity at each time point. Scale bars, 5µm.