Figure S2. Representative photograph used for calculating leaf area.
Leaf areas were determined by photographing leaves against a white background containing three standard areas. All areas were then determined using SigmaScan 3.5 relative to the standard curve for each photograph (See Methods). The average and lowest R^2 for a standard curves were 0.998 and 0.987, respectively.