The diagrams illustrate the relationship between generations before present (log scale) and population size prediction error for different scenarios: small, large, decline, and expansion. The graphs show the standard deviation of prediction error over time, with different markers representing LD statistics, AFS statistics, and AFS and LD statistics.