

Consent Form for Publication in a PLoS Journal

I, the undersigned, give my consent for my photograph and/or case history to be published in a Public Library of Science (PLOS) Journal. I have seen and read the material to be published. I have discussed this consent form with _____, who is an author of this paper, and I understand the following:

All PLoS journals are freely available on the web<sup>1</sup>. Hence, anyone anywhere in the world can read material published in them. Readers include not only doctors, but also journalists and other members of the public.

My name will not be published, and as far as possible all identifying features will be removed. However, it is not possible to ensure complete anonymity, and someone may be able to recognize me.

I understand that under the license which the PLoS uses (the Creative Commons Attribution License<sup>2</sup>) material published in PLoS journals can be redistributed freely and used for any legal purpose, including translation into other languages and commercial uses. I also understand that signing this consent form does not remove my rights to privacy.
