Table shows relative variable importance, akaike weighted beta estimate and 95% confidence interval on the mean for PGLS-spatial analysis of the effects of cultural ancestry and putative ecological predictors on forest replacement (n=72). Previously identified significant predictors of deforestation are shown in bold. All values integrate over phylogenetic and sampling uncertainty across 100 replicates from our posterior distribution of language trees.