

Figure S1. The relationship between average observed species richness and hand-collected biomass in the GLBRC field surveys (A) and the 2012 data from the LTER experiment (B). Please note the log scale in (B). P-values refer to the regression between observed species richness and biomass within a particular year.

